

2023 IMPACT REPORT

At Southeast Youth and Family Services, we are deeply committed to the well-being and resilience of individuals and families in Seattle. Through our comprehensive programs and dedicated efforts, our staff addressed critical needs in mental health support, early childhood education, and family connections, fostering a stronger, more resilient community.

In our mental health resource, we provide vital services to individuals facing challenges such as anxiety, depression, trauma, and more. Our culturally sensitive counseling and therapy services offer a safe space for individuals to explore their emotions, develop coping strategies, and access the support they need to thrive.

In early learning, we recognize the importance of providing children with a strong foundation for academic and personal success. Through our early childhood education programs, we offer high-quality, no-cost In-home activities, through our program ensuring that all children have access to the tools and resources they need to reach their full potential.

Additionally, our focus on strengthening family connections is at the heart of everything we do. We recognize the importance of strong, supportive family relationships in promoting overall well-being. Through our family conversations, family workshops, and community events, we are equipping families with the tools they need to communicate effectively, resolve conflicts, and build lasting bonds.

Through our holistic approach to mental health, early learning, and family support, we are creating lasting positive change in our community. By investing in individuals and families today, we are building a brighter, healthier future for generations to come."
